Armani silk foundation shade guide

Envelope your face in a flawless, natural-looking cover by the Armani Luminous Silk Foundation. This award-winning foundation uses a lightweight, liquid texture that effortlessly glides on the skin, helping to combine visage while blurring the appearance of imperfections in smooth and seamless results. Boasting a buildable, medium-coated, expert formula is infused with Micro-fil™ Technology using light reflective particles that work to sculpt and revive the skin. Weightlessness of the consistency sits inextensistible on the face, without creating a cakey, congealed effect. Now available in 40 shades, this charmeuse silk inspired formula exposes itself to countless skin types. Armani foundation capes visage with velvety neutral hue, trying to correct and balance uneven skin tone, while hiding the appearance of problematic areas. The faces are left silky and comfortable, enhanced with fine brightness. Use a blender's bar to apply for radiant finishes. Add and blend more products to achieve the desired coverage. The room was quite small and the bathroom was quite small. It is silky smooth and goes on beautifully! I love satin finish and definitely redeem! It is a lightweight foundation that sits so beautifully on the skin and gives a light finish. The coating is not too high, which makes it ideal for summers It is the most beautiful foundation ever put on my own The coating is beautiful, the tone is perfect, it lasts, it does not cling to dry spots or slip into greasy ones. If it wasn't that expensive, I'd use it every day! I use this foundation when I have a special event or when I go out. It is lightweight, makes the skin so beautiful and shiny. Honestly looks so beautiful on. I use it with Giorgio Armani foundation brush and also beauty blender. This foundation gave me beautiful, glittering skin, especially that I have a combination of skin with greasy t area. Lasts for hours and leaves the satin finish. I tend to use a brush to apply and blend. Provides light to medium coverage. Didn't notice the smell. I use this mainly during the winter season because my skin doesn't get too oily. Still the best foundation I've used, and for a price, it's not so much more than a NARS or MAC fund, but I just find it much better. It's natural-looking, and it really sinks into your skin instead of just lying on top like face paint or clinging to dry spots. I hadn't bought it for a while because of the price tag, but now I remember why it's quite enough (for me). Giorgio Armani Luminous Silk is by far my favorite foundation. I bought my first bottle of job interviews and fell in love. The coating is light to medium, light (duh), but not currently shiny. I'd call it radiant. It's even out of my skin tone, never looking cakey or over the top. Every day I wear a toned moisturizer with SPF 50, but on special occasions, weddings, going out, working inter... No doubt this is the best basis I've every tried, and it's worth every penny. There is no price you can put on gorgeous, smooth, silk-like leather, and it gives you that. The packaging is lux and it is a frosted, heavy glass bottle. I have a medium olive skin tone and shade 6 is perfect for me. But I feel like a pro ends up there. Cons: I found it flakes and looks cakey all day no matter how much I moisturize, how long I wait for my base products to be before I get it, and even if I try to properly prime... Love this foundation! Definitely a good option if you're in favor of light medium coverage. Before that I was using Nars sheer glow – I'd like light silk. Review and earn earn
